

Center for Migration Research

Please join us with honored guest:

Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo

University of Southern California

Ellis Island on the Land:

Gardens of Migration

Thursday, March 31st

3:00PM, Fraser 706

Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo is a Professor in the Department of Sociology at the University of Southern California, where she also serves as Associate Director at the Center for the Study of Immigrant Integration. Her research examines how Latino immigrants negotiate challenges with informal sector work, varied legal status, and changing gender, family and community relations. She has authored or edited nine books, including Paradise Transplanted: Migration and the Making of California Gardens.

Please forward this invitation to others who may be interested.

Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo
Professor of Sociology
Associate Director of CSII